

National Media Workshop on Ahmedabad BRTS

Date: January 17, 2011

Janmarg, the much acclaimed Bus Rapid Transit System (BRT) of Ahmedabad has emerged as a high quality public transport system in the country. At a time when almost a dozen cities in the country are at different stages of introducing the BRTS, it's important to understand and disseminate the factors that made Ahmedabad BRT a national and international success model. The information will help in planning and execution of other similar projects aimed towards improving urban mobility. With this objective CMS Environment is organising a Media Workshop on Ahmedabad BRTS.

Workshop and Field Trip

The day-long workshop and field trip is aimed towards providing first-hand information to journalists from cities where BRT is under construction. The workshop will also offer a chance to meet the experts from ITDP, CEPT, Janmarg and other senior government officials and policy makers.

Participation

- Participation is open to only print journalists from national as well as regional media
- There is no registration/ participation fee
- CMS will support the travel and accommodation of the selected participants
- Selection of participants will be done by CMS Environment

Last Date for receiving applications is January 7, 2011
